

MAKING TRAINING MORE CONVENIENT

Set everyone up for success

TREAT PREP

1. Determine how many total treats your pet can have per day (based on daily calories, GI comfort, etc.).
2. Chop or break as needed (pea size for dogs, 1/4 pea size for cats)
3. Gather storage supplies (containers, zipper bags, etc.)
4. Divide the total into smaller “serving sizes” to be given per training session.
5. Put each serving into a storage item

GIVE SUPPLIES A HOME

1. Obtain all other supplies you use for training (ex: leash, treat pouch, nail trimmer, clicker, toys, etc.)
2. Gather everything together in one place (ex: clip to leash, place in a bin, box. etc.)
3. Place supplies in convenient location (ex: hook by the door, drawer, bin on top of the fridge, etc.)

TRACK AND ADJUST

By noting how many treats you start with, you can compare to how many you end with. You ideally want to end timed sessions with some leftovers. If you regularly run out, make sure your sessions are not too long, consider divvying so you have more per session, or increasing treat volume (talk to your vet about reducing meal size to avoid weight gain. Consider adding green beans to meals to fill the belly.)

A COUPLE TIPS

1. Chop hotdogs and cheesesticks into nickel-thick discs, & cut those into pizza slices.
 2. Divide among snack-size zipper bags and place those into lg freezer bag
 4. Put in freezer to grab snack bags as needed
1. Attach coil key chain to clicker
 2. Attach clicker, treat pouch, poop bags, etc. to leash handle with carabiner.

(2024) WWW.JONESANIMALBEHAVIOR.COM

